Rs 600/- for the necessary repairs required to the temple

The temple is an ancient Musrai Institution being endowed with main lands and is reported to be renowned for its architectural beauty being built by Dakkavachari. As the temple was in need of repairs, the Dy Comr ordered the attachment of half of the produce of the main lands. The Archak of the temple appealed against the D C's order in reply he was informed that under the Inam Rules, the endowments would continue only as long as the Institutions were kept in good order and the Services were duly performed and that the D C's order was upheld and the appeal rejected In forwarding copy of the Endorsement, the Dy Comr was requested to submit an Estimate for repairing the temple

Accordingly that Officer subd an Estimate for Rs 4770/- and reported that only Rs 504/- were available at the credit of the Institution. With reference to this, the Dy Comr was requested to report how he would propose to meet the Cost of the balance of the Estimate

He submits for sanction an Estimate for Rs 600/- prepared by the P. W. Dept for the necessary repairs required to the temple
